Backdrop:

Assessment and research are the integral part of any educational process, program & academic work as they provide objective feedback about what the students have learned, how they have learn, how effective the instruction has been, what area of subject matter required more attention, data collection & its analysis as per objective etc. In order to collect these types of information in a systematic manner an assessment tool is required. It is important to decide the type of tool for information collection because they are used in different ways for different purposes. Consequently, it is essential to have sound knowledge of these tools and at the same time how to use them in right way. Thus, it becomes pertinent to know the development & standardization procedure of various assessment & research tools (both quantitative & qualitative) with their use & application which will make assessment & research a purposive, meaningful and effective exercise. In this backdrop, 5 days Online National Workshop has been organised with an intent to develop skills & competencies related to designing and developing assessment & research tools.
